1. SORT

[] identified professional recruiting, i.e. the need to enter on duty [] new officers, as the number one problem and challenge facing the Office in CY 1984. 25X1

Because of the seriousness of this problem, [] [] Deputy Director of Security for Personnel Security and Investigations, will assume full-time responsibility for the Security Officers' Recruitment and Training Program (SORT) effective 12 March. Concurrently, [] 25X1

[] will take over the day-to-day running of the Personnel Security and Investigations Directorate. [] 25X1

4. CIA/GSA Memorandum of Understanding

Pursuant to the Memorandum of Understanding between the Agency and the General Services Administration regarding the transfer to CIA of responsibility for the protection, maintenance and operation of GSA-operated buildings, []

[] met with Justice Department officers to discuss the protection clause. This meeting, and a similar one planned with the Office of Management and Budget, will serve to clarify circumstances where "arrest power" and "detention authority" are needed. []

5. Freedom of Information Legislation

Recently, the Senate and House reviewed a proposed bill which would afford relief to the Agency from searching operational files in response to Freedom of Information Act requests. The American Civil Liberties Union, which had previously voiced some concerns regarding the bill, has recently advised that it will agree to no review of operational files in exchange for speedier responses in other areas. The bill will have little, if any, impact on the Office of Security in a workload sense.

6. A Call for Increased Telepouch Use

A significant increase in cables over the last two years has generated concern regarding the Agency's ability to continue to efficiently manage and distribute cables. To address this concern, all Office of Security components that generate cables have been requested to send administrative type messages by way of the telepouch format, in lieu of a staff cable, whenever possible. An Office notice on the topic is forthcoming. []
